Bequest

Leaving a bequest in your Will is a powerful and generous means of helping to improve the outcomes for patients with pancreatic cancer. Every bequest, no matter what size, can help us achieve our purpose of promoting the prevention and control of pancreatic cancer.

The bequest can be made when you write your Will or added in a codicil to your existing Will. A codicil is a document which changes the terms of your existing Will, without the need to make a new Will eg change the executors and trustees , add a new gift or bequest.

It is strongly recommended that you consult your solicitor when making a Will or changing its terms under a codicil. This will ensure that the bequest is properly documented in a legally binding way.
